

ENORMOUS CROWD WITNESSED GAMES

DEDICATION OF LINCOLN PARK WAS GRAND SUCCESS IN EVERY WAY.

STARS AND I. N. U. WINNERS

Huber Was Air Tight in First Contest
While Second Game Was Slug Fests.

Twelve hundred people witnessed the dedication of Lincoln Park, Thursday afternoon, and practically all who went to the park early in the afternoon to witness the dedicatory exercises remained during the two interesting ball games which were staged. The afternoon's doings commenced with a parade at 1 o'clock, in which the Dixon Marine Band and the members of the four teams of the City League participated. The line of march was short, but the parade created additional interest in the program of events and by the time the players and the parade followers reached the park the grand stand was filled and the crowd had flocked out onto the field.

Short Talks

Immediately after the arrival of the band and the players, G. G. McCarthy, president of the Dixon Baseball and Amusement Association, introduced Mayor W. B. Brinton. Mr. Brinton congratulated the association on the success of its efforts in providing amusement grounds for Dixon, and bespoke the liberal patronage of the people of the city. E. J. Countryman, O. H. Martin and George Boynton, representatives of the commercial interests of the city also made short talks, in which they extended best wishes to the association, and vouchsafed the moral support of the business men of the city.

"Play Ball"

Following the talks, Mayor Brinton pitched the first ball to Lightner, and the first game of the afternoon, between the I. N. U. and Brunswicks, was on. The Utility workers won handily, principally because Huber was in air tight form, and because a little wildness on the part of Graff in the first inning got him into trouble, and threw his team mates off their feet.

The Brunswicks had little chance against Huber in their contest, for Carp was pitching in form that would have beaten any of them, while their loose support behind Graff and Smith, together with their own errors of omission, allowed the I. N. U. players to accumulate eight runs in the first four innings. Lightner took the mound in the fifth, and the men of Alexander quit scoring right then.

A Slug-Fest

The second game, between the Stars and Busters, developed into a slugfest in the early stages, and was just the kind of the game the fans like—for the real baseball bug delights to hear the crack of the wood meeting the horse-hide, and he likes to see the players chasing the ball. The shoe makers scored two in the first, when Bob Woodyatt put one over the fence, with two on ahead of him. But Bob's hit went only as a single for the umpire said he failed to touch second. The Stars came back like horseradish in the second and by virtue of four hits and a couple of errors put four runs across. They repeated in the third, when five singles netted four runs, and Bob Woodyatt decided to let someone else throw 'em up to be hit at. Dollmeyer took his place on the mound and the Stars made but one more run.

Busters Bust Ball

In the meantime the Busters were doing some hitting on their own hook and in the fourth inning four hits, one a two-bagger, put two runs across. A pretty throw by Larkin cut off other run at the plate. Again in the sixth with two on the runways, Stephanitch put her over the fence for a homer, and the three runs that almost tied the score brought about the retirement of Mr. Blass. Rescuer Charlie Keenan got onto the job with brother Joe, and the old battery that has stood a lot of them on their heads finished the rest of the game most commendably, but one hit being registered off Charles in the three innings he worked. The scores:

BILL HAWKINS FLIGHT WAS UNSUCCESSFUL

COLORED DRIVER LANDS ON THE PAVEMENT WITH CAR ON TOP OF HIM

WILLIAM WAS A BUSY BOY

While His Ride Lasted It Was a Good One—He Had Forgotten How To Stop The Automobile.

"Bill" Hawkins, colored, driving an automobile owned by Dr. L. R. Trowbridge of this city, came to grief Thursday about 12:50 when he tried to pull off an airplane stunt on Ottawa Avenue bill, a half a block north of the Telegraph office.

Bill has been employed the last three weeks washing cars in the Part and Netz garage. Previous to that he had been a porter in the old barber shop. Yesterday, when he had finished washing Dr. Trowbridge's car, he decided that he would take it from the basement to the upstairs, and to do so, he had to drive into the alley, over to Galena, up to First and come in the front door of the garage on First st. Few Bill's acquaintance with automobiles has been confined strictly to putting the mad off the wheels. He cranked her up and got in, took a good hold of the steering wheel and turned her loose. From that minute Bill had all the excitement he wanted. No bronco buster ever had a wilder ride than Bill did. He got out of the alley with all four wheels still on and he made the corner of First Street in about one jump, switched into First and started for the garage.

When he got there he found he was going a little too fast to make a very dignified entrance, so he decided he would go around the block again and hoped to get his speed under control by the next round. You see Bill had forgotten (if he ever knew), which way to pull the throttle to stop the machine. He had it wide open and was pulling on it as hard as he could. Brakes made no impression. All he could do was try and stay between the curbs. Perhaps he figured on running around that block until he gasoline gave out.

When he turned the Telegraph corner and started down the hill he saw the river ahead of him. There were just two things to do. He could do a Lincoln Beachy stunt and vibrate over the creek, or to turn round in the middle of the hill and start back. He tried to do both and he got a good start each way. He whirled the car around and when he got sideways with the hill he started his flight. Then Bill started to yell. It was a grand flight, but it didn't last long. His fier struck an air pocket or something, did a flip-out in mid air, and came down with four wheels spinning in the air; came down with a terrible, sickening crash, and Bill was underneath. But Bill was wise. He manipulated himself so that when the auto-

JAS. L. M'GINNIS HAS PASSED AWAY

HELD SHORT SESSION OF CIRCUIT COURT

MOORE VS. C. B. & Q. CASE WAS DISMISSED ON ARGUMENT THIS MORNING.

Judge Farrand re-convened the Circuit Court, for a short session today, the purpose being to clean up the business of the April term. Many orders were entered in chancery cases today, and because of the settlement of the case of Mrs. Millie E. Moore vs. the C. B. & Q. Railway that case was dismissed. Mrs. Moore had started suit to collect on a certificate held by her late husband in the Burlington Relief Fund, but the case was settled.

A slight huskiness is noted in the colonel's voice, but it becomes marked when he tries to speak loudly. Mrs. Longworth only came to Southampton to bid her father goodbye. After his departure she returned to London.

ROOSEVELT RETIRES TO IM- PERIAL SUITE AFTER IMPER- ATOR LEAVES SOUTHAMPTON

CROWD CHEER AS SHIP SAILS

Former President Tells British People That He Had a "Bully Good Time"—Wont Seek Governorship of New York.

London, June 19.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt, shortly after the Emperor sailed from Southampton, suffered a recurring touch of jungle fever, according to a wireless message from the liner. He had a chill and retired immediately to the Imperial suite, which had been assigned to him.

Colonel Given Warm Farewell. Southampton, England, June 19.—A warm farewell was given to Col. Theodore Roosevelt, who sailed for New York on the Emperor after a whirlwind visit of less than ten days in Europe.

Crowds cheered the former president in London, and there was a friendly demonstration on the streets here and on the pier when the colonel went on board the big Hamburg-American liner. He was accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, of Cincinnati, O., and his cousin, Philip Roosevelt of New York.

Will Not Seek Governorship.

Just before the liner sailed Colonel Roosevelt said that he would not be a candidate for governor of New York.

"I absolutely refuse to run for the governorship," he said. Colonel Roosevelt was accompanied to Southampton by Arthur Lee, a Unionist member of parliament, who was the American statesman's host over the week end.

W. H. Page, the American ambassador, the members of the embassy staff, Lord Beresford and several other notable persons were at the railway station in London when the colonel left.

"Had a Bully Good Time."

Before going aboard the boat train Colonel Roosevelt issued a brief statement thanking the British people for their kind treatment.

"I've had a bully good time," he added. The colonel and Lord Beresford posed with clasped hands for the newspaper photographers.

Warned by Specialists.

Colonel Roosevelt looked in good health despite the throat weakness which will prevent him from taking an active part in the approaching political campaign in the United States.

A slight huskiness is noted in the colonel's voice, but it becomes marked when he tries to speak loudly.

Mrs. Longworth only came to Southampton to bid her father goodbye. After his departure she returned to London.

GREIF FOR WIFE CAUSED BENNET SUICIDE THURSDAY

TOOK STRYCHNINE THEN WALK- ED TO WIFE'S GRAVE TO DIE.

WOMEN HEARD MOANING

Suffering Man Was Removed to Hospital Where He Died At 2:30 P. M.

Continued brooding over the death of his wife, which took place several months ago, caused Benjamin W. Bennett to take his own life Thursday, strychnine being the method chosen by the lonely man for his self destruction. Taking a dose of the poison while enroute to the cemetery, Bennett calmly walked to his wife's grave and there awaiting the end, and fearing that the quantity he had taken while on his way to the last resting place of his loved one had not been sufficient, he swallowed more of the poison after arriving there. But his purpose of dying on his wife's grave was frustrated, for he was discovered by Dr. M. L. White, who had heard his cries, and was taken to the hospital.

Bennet was found in convulsions on a grave in the east end of Oakwood cemetery, by Dr. White and several other ladies who were attracted to the place by his cries. The man was suffering untold agonies, but managed to gasp that he had taken strychnine wishing to do away with himself and that he had come to die at the grave of his dear wife. Dr. White immediately informed the police who responded at once with an ambulance and she, herself obtained a medicine case and administered the proper antidotes, following with the offer was removed to the hospital. Every effort possible was made to save the life of the unfortunate, but to no avail for Bennet expired at 2:30 o'clock.

Later at the inquest conducted at Jones & Slains undertaking parlors, by Coroner George B. Stephen, it transpired that Bennet had left a roughly drawn will which was found in his pockets, just before his death, which read thus:

"I, Ben W. Bennet leave my watch and trunk and everything to C. H. Browne of West Seventh Street. Bury me close to my dear wife. Bury me close to my dear wife."

The testimony of Dr. White concerning the unfortunate incident was heard by the coroner bringing out the fact that Bennet took poison at the corner of Seventh street and Peoria and thence walked to the cemetery to die at the grave of his wife, giving the deadly stuff just time enough to take effect.

John Duffy and Thos Coffey of the police station were next called to the witness stand, their information concerning that of Dr. White. Following them, Harry Wendel, a bartender at a local saloon testified. Wendel knew Bennet well as a sober and industrious fellow who had been considerably saddened by the death of his wife at the Katherine Shaw Tetha Hospital two months ago. Since that time Bennet had been given to moods of despondency these increasing of late since a trip he took to Creston, Iowa. At that place he had been invited for a boat ride by two men in a partly intoxicated state who accidentally overturned the boat. Later Bennet found he had lost his purse containing $196, all the money he had in the world. He returned to Dixon on money borrowed from Creston Aid Fellows, on the security of his watch, arriving here some time he later part of last week. This seemed to have been the crisis in the life of Bennet, for several mornings since he had entered Schnellback's saloon where Wendel is employed, crying. Wendel at these times did his best to cheer him up and was generally successful. Yesterday morning Bennet again entered the saloon in tears and in a very melancholy frame of mind. After some conversation he called Wendel to him saying, "Harry, you have always been a good friend of mine and I want to how you something if you will not give me away." He produced a small bottle containing strychnine which Wendel snatched away from him. Bennet desperately struggled to regain the bottle, begging pitifully for the fatal phial. "For God's sake

Admiral Fletcher Leaves for U. S. Washington, June 19.—Rear Admiral Fletcher, who was in command at the time of the capture of Vera Cruz, has been asked by Secretary of the Navy Daniels to come to Washington. He will leave Vera Cruz today on the gunboat Dolphin, arriving here about next Friday.

Rear Admiral Badger is to retire on July 1 and as announced will be succeeded as commander of the Atlantic fleet by Admiral Fletcher.

Admiral Badger will remain at Vera Cruz in charge until the return there of Admiral Fletcher by July 15.

Secretary Daniels said that Admiral Fletcher's long term of service at Vera Cruz entitled him to a vacation and that he would get it. Secretary Daniels also desires to have a personal report from Admiral Fletcher on the Mexican political situation.

Secretary Daniels will take Admiral Fletcher to the White House for a conference with the president.

Villa on Way to Saltillo.

Juarez, Mex., June 19.—An unofficial report reached Juarez that Gen. Pancho Villa with 2,000 soldiers had left Torreon for Saltillo. Villa has been in communication with his representatives in Juarez and El Paso all day, but the strictest secrecy is maintained by the Villa men.

General Natera Under Arrest.

It was officially stated that the Carranza civil officials arrested here when Villa ordered the seizure of the government offices and railroad were taken to Torreon, where Villa already has ordered an advance move toward Zacatecas. Gen. Panfilo Natera, it is said here, is under arrest. His command has been taken from him by Villa and will be given to Gen. Eugenio Benavides.

General Angeles Engineered Coup.

It is generally admitted here that while Villa, the former bandit, gets the credit, the polished and brilliant Angeles engineered the coup which changed the course of events in revolutionary Mexico. It was Angeles who suggested the seizure of the civil offices, who framed the ultimatum to Carranza, who counseled a bloodless revolution within the constitutional party, and who insisted that no violence be done, that no excesses be indulged in, and that the world be shown that Villa can be depended upon to maintain order where other men probably would have resorted to violence.

Villa to Rule Army.

Villa is determined that he alone shall rule in the army and that the army shall dictate the course of civil government. Should Carranza prove obstinate, General Angeles unquestionably will be declared first chief of the revolution and will supplant Carranza in civil authority. This would mean that Angeles would handle the diplomatic end of the revolution and that Villa would be supreme in military matters.

Clyde Longenecker and Messrs. Barken and Kennedy of Rochelle in the six-cylinder Midland owned by Longenecker, met with an accident on the Franklin Grove and Dixon road, while a mile and a half west of Franklin Grove, at about 10:30 last evening, when their car skidded into a ditch and turned turtle, pinning the occupants of the car underneath and quite seriously injuring some of them.

The road was being repaired at the point where the accident occurred and the soft dirt at the edge of the road gave way under the wheels allowing the machine to slide into the ditch. The car was not running fast at the time and this fact was fortunate. Passersby managed to lift the car enough to get the men out and Kelly, the garageman at Franklin Grove took them to Rochelle. The car was not badly damaged. Mr. Longenecker was unconscious for some time after the accident happened.

HER IDEA OF A GENTLEMAN

According to Ruling of Snobbish Canadian Miss, There Are Few of Them on Earth.

There is an ancient British anecdote, still in perfectly good standing, which gives a definition of a "lady." This states that the mistress of a house on returning from an afternoon's shopping was informed by her housemaid: "A lady was here to see you, Mum." Asked the mistress: "How do you know it was a lady?" Said the housemaid: "Because she was covered with jewelry and smelt of sherry somethin' awful, Mum."

A New Yorker used to recall the anecdote in telling of a Canadian definition of a "gentleman" which he received some years ago.

"I was at a dance in Ottawa," he said, "the year before the Boer war. One of my partners was a snip of a miss who had virulent Anglomaniac. The talk ran upon class distinctions, and she voiced some bizarre opinions as to the gulf between 'gentlemen' and all other men."

"Well, won't you please tell me exactly what is a gentleman?" I finally asked.

"She was puzzled, but just for a moment. Her eyes ran around the room until they rested upon Lord Ava, the eldest son of the then Marquis of Duferin."

"A gentleman," said my partner, "is a man who knows Lord Ava well enough to ask him for a match."

NEW DISCOVERY ABOUT ANTS

Scientist Asserts That the Insects Have a Regular Form of Salutation Among Themselves.

Ants have long been known for their excessive industry, but from a curious communication which has just appeared they seem to have surpassed all other insects by organizing an elaborate system of signaling.

Professor Bugnion, who has recently investigated the habits of the white ant, reports that the "soldiers" of that species give warnings or encouraging signals by knocking with their jaws upon dry leaves, thereby emitting a crackling sound. Placing some of these ants on a big plate and covering it with paper, he found that the "soldiers" among the ants responded to his taps with a rustling, crackling sound.

Moreover, apart from this audible signaling, there appears to be some inaudible form of signal, for the professor asserts that the "soldier" ants salute the worker ants.

To do this, "the insect stands firmly on its legs with the head raised and the body slightly oblique, and shakes itself for an instant with a convulsive shudder. This seems to mean something."

Asiatics Use Goat Skin Churns.

Goat skin churns are the proper thing in the Asiatic deserts. They are the unique butter-making contrivances of the world. These churns resemble gigantic footballs, varying in size according to the extent of the family. They are constructed of goat's skin sewed together in the form of a ball, with the hair side in.

Cream is run into these bags until they are about half full, and the balance of the space is filled with air from the churner's lungs. Then these churns are suspended from three sticks and a rocking motion begun. The air on the inside is calculated to aid coaking the butter from the cream. After the churning the product is strained through cloth, for the goat's hair has a tendency to shed during the violent operations.

Weight of Inch of Rainfall.

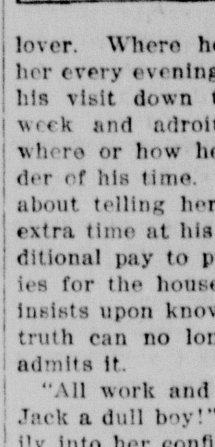

An inch of rainfall is the equivalent of 603 barrels of 45 gallons each to the acre. This amount of water weighs over one hundred and thirteen tons. Think of hauling it to the farms in wagons holding a ton each. That seemingly light air and clouds are capable of handling this enormous amount of water is one of the marvels of meteorology. One inch of rain is not such a heavy rainfall either.—Farm and Fireside.

KIDNAPING A BETROTHED MAN.

'Tis ever thus
With noble minds, if by chance they slide to folly.
Remorse stings deeper, and relentless conscience
Pours more gall into the bitter cup
Of their sincere repentance.

It is supposed when a man is engaged to be married that all the sweet-hearts and friends of other days will let him alone. This supposition does not always hold good. From the moment that some men are engaged they commence to lead a new life, as it were. The pleasure that has been most pleasing to her, they give up. Friends whom they have liked best seem no more. Even his fiancée detects a change in such a lover. Where he used to call upon her every evening in the week he cuts his visit down to three evenings a week and adroitly avoids revealing where or how he passes the remainder of his time. He has a reluctance about telling her that he is working extra time at his business to earn additional pay to purchase added luxuries for the housekeeping. When she insists upon knowing where he is, the truth can no longer be held and he admits it.

"All work and no play soon makes Jack a dull boy!" She takes her family into her confidence. Her brothers evolve a plan to adjust matters. They march boldly to his place of business at the edge of the evening. They find him elbow deep in a pile of letters that will keep him busily engaged until midnight, if not into the wee' sma' hours.

They coax him to remember there's another day; that, even though he earns less he keeps his health and strength by quitting the work and accompanying them to some place of amusement. When they are convinced that their blandishments are of no avail to move him, they take him forcibly from his work, hustle him into his hat and coat, and, despite his protestations, kidnap him from his office, as it were, forcing him to take much needed rest. If more men who devote much more time than they should to their business were tenderly but firmly taken from their absorbing cares and compelled to take necessary recreation, it would prolong their lives—give them new zest to commence work again.

It is always the man who needs rest most who declares that business would go to smash in a week if he were not at the helm. No duties are so important that they should engross too much of a man's time. "There is a time to work and a time to play." The best ends are served when they are equally balanced.

Even the young man on marriage intent and who has already purchased the betrothal ring cannot afford to neglect his sweetheart by paying more attention to business than to her, no matter how good the cause, unless he cares to see her cheeks grow pale with worry. A good sweetheart would rather do with less than know her bridegroom-to-be was slaving to lay by a few extra dollars.

Al! what avail, the largest gifts of Heaven
When drooping health and spirits go unseen?
How tasteless, then, whatever can be given.
Health is the vital principle of bliss.

MATING TO PLEASE FAMILIES.

Build on no tomorrow;
Love has but today.
If the links seem slackening,
Cut the bond away.

When families are intimate, and one possesses a young man of marriageable age, the other a daughter just out of her teens, it seems only natural that the two families would earnestly hope their children would become enamored of each other and the pretty romance end in wedlock.

If there is anything a young man is obstinate about it is allowing his parents the right to meddle in his love affairs. If he starts in to bean her around just to please them, he finds himself entangled in a net from which it is difficult to extricate himself. If he stops calling on the girl next door, the two mothers put their heads together. Morning, noon and night, for the next week, he is treated to a lecture from the one person on earth whom he allows to dictate to him—his mother. There is no way of eluding the girl. She has access to his home at all times. She is catered to and deferred to as though she were one of the family.

He is not even allowed the luxury of a lover's spat. If anything goes wrong, it is he who is called sharply to account for it. How dared he go off in a doze when Mary was singing her greatest song hit? He fears to tell the truth about the matter—that these few seconds of unconsciousness were a relief which he would hardly have dared hope for to shut out Mary's high-pitched voice which got on his nerves.

The girl next door is not his style at all. His mother declares she's an angel. But his mother is not courting Mary. She won't hear that the sweet young girl has a temper, that she's jealous as a Turk; that she's deceitful, smiling sweetly on the dear little tots she meets on the street, declaring they were made for air and sunshine, but insists that her mother keep their cock's babies shut up in the dark basement kitchen, so she won't see their faces peering at her in her automobile.

Mothers who have their hearts set upon the match fail to observe that the tastes of the young folks differ widely. They have no likings in common. He loves the lively girl—a bit coquettish, yet sensible girl who knows when to laugh and when to be serious; the girl who don't want her own way all the time, in everything; who isn't "daffy" on matinees and movies; who doesn't run to gossipers to find out if he was with any other girl on a particular evening that he was to take her out, but sent her a hurried note, begging off for business reasons. To secure peace at home, many a young man has allowed himself to be coddled into a marriage which he might not have made of his own volition. Young people should be allowed a voice in their mating. He, or she, who marries to please any one else has his or her own trials, and both have themselves to blame if their happiness becomes shipwrecked.

AGAIN THE MARRIED MAN.

Where evil may be done, 'tis right
To ponder; where only suffer'd know,
The shortest pause is much too long.

Every girl has her love dream, sweet, and fanciful, of the man who will one day come to woo and wed her. In her meditations he is always light of heart and fancy free. No cloud darkens their courtship. Marriage is the natural outcome of their meeting. Even the girl whose feet have turned into the primrose path never went so far in her reveries as to imagine that her mate was to be one who was bound by the holiest ties to another.

The stories of the girls who have gone wrong because of their foolish infatuation for a man who could not be theirs have held no warnings. They have read of the unfortunate endings of such girls, but, do they heed? No!

Yesterday, the whole country was stirred by the elopement of a young girl and a married man. So strong was her infatuation for him that she defies all who love her and hold her dear to keep her parted from the villain who has entangled her heart. To-day another girl has shocked the world by slaying the wife of the man whose love she craved. In her case, retribution followed close on the heels of the tragedy. When she realized the enormity of her crime, in a moment of remorse, she took her own life.

We fail to remember that many go headlong to their ruin, with their eyes open and a full understanding of the sins they are committing when they welcome the advances of a married man. Love is solemn as it is noble. No girl has ever fallen headlong into sin. She has reached that stage by slow degrees. First it is the smile, then the pleasant word of greeting, the low, tender word, the clasp of the hand and the caress.

Before love-making gets so far as this, and ere she has fallen under its mystic spell, she should make up her mind to know all about the man who sues for her affection. First and foremost, it is expected that he is single. Next, that he is honorable, and upon marriage intent.

If a man who has been making the least advances to a girl tells her that he can love her, but is not free to be nearer and dearer to her, that he cannot marry because he already has a wife, the girl should flee from him as from a plague. He does not tell her the thought that is uppermost in his heart, that his intention is to make her but the plaything of an hour, blot the purity of her fair name, wreck her life, make of her a creature whom he would not allow his own wife to associate with. Girls know the danger at a very early age and step willing victims into the trap laid for them.

Honorable girls scorn and spurn the married man who attempts to make advances to them. Good girls want husbands all their own, respectable, God-fearing men, who love and reverence them. Children of such a union look to their mother with pride and follow in her footsteps. Girls, beware of the married man who would make love to those unprotected, and seem a mark of easy prey. Do not keep his attempt to make love a secret.

Rather Gave It Away.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, discussing a faked mineral water in Washington, smiled and said:

"The manufacturer pretends his water gushes from a spring instead of from a factory, but in the long run he gives himself away."

"He reminds me of a western lake that used to have for one of its attractions a small natural bridge."

"A winter storm carried the bridge away, and two natives rebuilt it. The rebuilding was well done and perhaps would never have been suspected but for this sign put up at the entrance:

"NATURAL BRIDGE.
Erected by Henry C. and Jacob Clayton."

JUDGE ALTON B. PARKER.

Judge Alton B. Parker of New York, failed of the presidency, but he has not failed as a patriotic citizen and an eminent lawyer, says the Bloomington Pantagraph. His address to the graduating class of Yale Monday ought to be read by every true American. In this day we hear much about seizing private property in the settlement of industrial disputes. This of course means to cure a state of anarchy by adding more anarchy. The fact that everyone should propose or defend such a measure and find approval in so doing is evidence that constitutional government is in real danger. But so long as men like Judge Parker hold to the fundamental law and warn the country of the peril in departing from it there is some encouragement. The constitution of the United States is a cure for crankism in government and ought to be studied.

Cultivate the habit of looking pleasant. The man with an ingrowing grouch written all over his face is scarcely an addition to the scenic effect of the street.

HE HAS JOINED HER AGAIN.

"Everything I love in all the world lies up there in the cemetery and I don't care how soon I go up there myself." That is what Benjamin Bennett told his friend not long ago. Yesterday, tired of waiting for a slow and natural death in his bed, anxious to sleep by the side of the woman who had been his comrade and aid through her life and his, he sought the spot that held the earthly part that had been left behind to him by her fleeing spirit, and the sorrowed and melancholy man deliberately destroyed his own life. His friends will lay him tenderly in the place he sought, and their sorrow cannot help, but be alloyed with the pleasant thought that Ben has been granted his wish and is happy again.

Suicide, as a rule, is a horrible and repulsive thing. Indeed, it is a crime against nature, and the suicide who seeks thereby to escape the trials, responsibilities and punishment, merited or unmerited, when he leaves others behind to bear the double brunt of worldly cares, is a selfish coward, but Ben Bennett was alone and bereaved of his mate, and he was hopelessly sick. He was old enough that he could not hope to discover a new happiness in this life. His money was gone and he felt that he was needed by no one. His act was wrong, yes, but charity will find an excuse to forgive him and trust that his troubled and lonely soul has found peace, and the love that he sought.

Ben Bennett's sad little story holds a world of pathos for friends. It is commoner than we know and it helps us to realize what a lot of good things we need in the world to furnish happiness enough to sooth the sore spots and sweeten the bitter doses that fate lands out.

KEEP THE BALL ROLLING

The young men of Dixon who have taken it upon themselves to locate and equip a new baseball park are entitled to a vote of thanks and something more. They deserve and only ask a liberal and continued support throughout the season. It takes money to keep the ball games going and the ball games are a help to Dixon. The sport is the cleanest, greatest American game and it furnishes amusement and recreation to many people. It brings people to Dixon from the country and from neighboring towns and it fosters a better feeling of good fellowship among the citizens of the town. Keep it moving.

LUCK WAS WITH HIM

The accident that overtook "Bill" Hawkins when the automobile he was attempting to drive looped the loop and broke through the front end and set down on Bill's chest only partly demonstrating what a dangerous toy an automobile is in the hands of an inexperienced or a rattle brained driver. Mr. Hawkins had about as much control of that automobile as he would if he were riding astride of a comet, and the luck that saved him from a broken neck was also good enough to keep other people out of his erratic course through town.

Decatur Herald: That Yale student who has discovered a new list of Babylonian kings deserves credit of course for his researches, but he hasn't accomplished much more than the tariff in lowering the cost of living.

BLOOMINGTON COMMENT.

Bloomington Pantagraph: It may be repeated that every movement to increase the safety of local travel on streets traversed by railroad tracks is the movement forward for the railroads and the public and when once the improvement is secured it will be worth many times the cost.

Jacksonville Courier: Another of life's hazards that soon will impose itself upon credulous humanity will be the opening of the annual cantaloupe lottery. As a rule there are a few good ones in a carload. One pays the price of a good one and takes a chance—a long chance.

Seattle Post-Intelligencer: Subtle feminine malice is shown by the anti-suffragists in choosing the red rose as their badge. What is a suffragist to do when she gets a bunch of American Beauty roses sent her?

Decatur Review: The Wabash railroad is reported to have secured 20,000 acres of coal land near Taylorville at $30 an acre. There is one item of the company's property in which it can't be said there is "water."

EXPRESS THEIR THANKS

The officers of the Dixon Base Ball & Amusement Association and the managers and members of the Buster Browns and the I. N. U. teams have united in a vote of thanks to Mayor Brinton, Messrs. E. J. Countryman, O. H. Martin and George Hoynton, to the commercial interests of the city and to the general public for their help and interest in yesterday's successful celebration of the dedication of Lincoln Park.

ON BUSINESS AND PLEASURE

Gov. Edward F. Dunne and Superintendent of Public Instruction Francis G. Blair Endorse the Study of Fire Prevention in Schools.

In a proclamation issued by Gov. Edward F. Dunne, proclaiming October 5 as State Fire Prevention day, he says:

"Statistics show that fire waste is increasing annually and the fire loss in the state of Illinois in 1912 averaged $1,000,000 per month. Besides this, in that year alone nearly four hundred people in this state lost their lives through the agency of fire. The losses thus occasioned constitute an absolute waste and a drain upon our resources such as no nation or state can long endure, and the fact that they are largely preventable is a reproach to our people and calls for an immediate remedy."

And among other recommendations for the observance of Fire Prevention day appears the following:

"Lastly, let fire drills be held on that day in institutions, factories and in public, private and parochial schools, and I earnestly recommend that teachers instruct their pupils, through short talks and proper programs, on the dangers of fire and the simpler means of fire prevention."

State Fire Marshal Walter H. Bennett, in a bulletin issued to the principals and superintendents of schools in the state of Illinois calls their attention to conditions in some of the schools as found by deputy state fire marshals on their tours of inspection. Among other things he says:

"Our deputies have found three-story school buildings not provided with fire escapes and with narrow stairways and inadequate exits; they have found heaps of rubbish and other inflammable materials in the basements and garrets; they have found many schools that are not provided with fire extinguishers of any kind, and many others having extinguishers that have not been recharged within the memory of man, and the janitor and teachers have but the faintest idea of their proper use; they have found furnace pipes in basements so near the joists and floors that the woodwork was charred and carbonized and in a condition to readily ignite; and they have found many schools in which no fire drill is practiced and where an alarm of fire would be likely to result in disorder, demoralization and probably fatal results."

Suggestions for Schools.

All school buildings should be provided with metal receptacles for holding accumulations of waste paper and refuse, in which it may be temporarily stored instead of allowing it to accumulate on basement floors or in wooden boxes or barrels.

All doors should open outward and these exit doors should never be locked during school sessions. Chemical fire extinguishers marked "For Fire Only" should be set in conspicuous places on each floor near the stair landings and in the basements. Fire drills should be practised at frequent intervals.

School Fire Drills.

Fire drills are aimed not so much at the fire as at the panic which usually accompanies it. The principal thing is to prevent the panic. The two points that are to be considered are, first—Order; and, second—Rapidly. See to it that the fire alarm system is always in perfect working order. See that the exit facilities are sufficient and are always unobstructed.

Fire drills should be to the fire escapes as well as to the exits and should conclude with a continued march of the children out of and away from the school building. "I believe," says the state fire marshal, "that it is especially important to hold occasionally a fire fighting instruction program. There should be short talks by the teachers on fire prevention and the evils of carelessness. It is important that these lessons should be as free as possible from excitement and should be addressed to the common sense of the pupils rather than to their imagination."

INSURANCE MONEY REPLACES NO LOSS.

Fire Forever Destroys an Asset Whether Insured or Not.

The fact that property which has been destroyed by fire may be insured, and the owner receive some money compensation therefor, in no way changes the condition that the property asset is forever destroyed; and the fact that he receives insurance money is simply and solely the process of taking that money out of your pocket and my pocket in premiums, and turning it over to him as our contribution toward his misfortune. The money that he receives as insurance money is lost to us for all time. In other words it is purely and simply a mutual contribution, made by members of a mutual organization, as a relief from temporary misfortune.

Yes, there is nothing that will bring comfort like HEALO if you have aching, tired feet.

GREIF FOR WIFE CAUSED BENNET SUICIDE THURSDAY

Harry," said he, "give me back that bottle. If you don't, I can get another. Wendel of course refused him and eBennet left the place weeping. Later he returned in a more cheerful mood and announced that he had reconsidered all intentions of suicide and was feeling better. After this Wendel informed Sergeant Gaffney of eBennet's actions, but the officer was unable to locate him.

Wendel further said that Bennet had been unable to do hard work and was in poor health, being subject to these fits of melancholia.

Was Greatly Depressed

The next witness called was Samuel Aiken, of this city who had known Bennet as a reliable, but moody fellow, but considered that his mind was in a stable condition. Bennet had treated Aiken to the same recitals of his misfortunes that he had told to Wendel and Officer John Gaffney, who also knew him.

Harris Browne, his closest friend, who has for several years financially aided Bennet in times of need next testified.

The death of the wife has been a severe blow to the deceased, said he. At this time Bennet had been left $1,000 insurance which had been partly spent in reestablishing his married daughter (Bessie Langdon) in the lively business after they had lost all by fire. The rest of his money had been lost at Creston, Iowa, and spent in other ways. Browne knew him as a person often despondent and said that Bennet had often threatened suicide, but did not think him mentally deranged.

John Gaffney stated that Bennet had at one time complained to him of two men following him whom he thought were after his money, but when questioned could not point out the men. His actions according to Officer Gaffney pointed to mental derangement. This was in contradiction to the statements of Aiken and Browne, who thought Bennet sane.

The jury after some deliberation, returned a verdict of death by taking strychnine while in a despondent frame of mind.

It was not developed at the inquest where the married daughter by the name of Langdon lived, and all attempts to locate her were in vain.

The daughter lives some place north of Columbus Nebraska, this is all that was known.

The local order of Odd Fellows will have charge of the burial of Bennet.

Lodge Funeral.

Notice to the officers and members of Dixon Lodge No. 39, I. O. O. F., is given that the funeral of the late W. B. Bennet will be held from the Odd Fellows Hall, Saturday at 3 p. m. All brothers are requested to meet at the hall at 1 p. m. The order is given by W. C. Merrill, Noble Grand.

URIC ACID IN MEAT CLOGS THE KIDNEYS

Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you—Drink more water.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

Charles Maurice Binder had demanded that a day be fixed to discuss what caused portions of streets of Paris to cave in during the storm of June 15. In reply Rene Renoult, minister of public works, said a thorough inquiry was in progress. Deputy Lasles declared the unions had been denouncing certain underground works as badly done. Then the Socialists began beating desks and yelling to drown other speeches.

TALK ABOUT THE WEATHER

Declared in These Days to Be the Only Safe Topic of Conversation.

Perhaps the chief reason why the weather is a suitable topic for conventional conversation is its usefulness. Nothing can be done with the weather except talk about it, so the talk is not liable to interruption by a call to action. Hard times are a topic of general interest, common alike to millionaire and workman. But if you say to a perfect stranger the times are hard he may take advantage of that admission by asking for a subscription for some charity or by demanding that you vote the socialist ticket.

The weather is, in fact, almost the only safe topic left for pure conversation in this energetic and practical age, says the New York Independent. However much you may deplore the badness of the weather, nobody is likely to hold you responsible for it or call upon you to remedy it unless you run across a crank who is raising a fund to bombard the heavens for the production of rain or the dissipation of hailstorms.

Leading off with the weather inspires confidence because it is a traditional and established opening. If a man on being introduced to a young woman is asked by her if he is married, or on meeting a stranger in a dark and deserted road is asked what time it is, his suspicions are aroused at once. In fact, any conversational opening except the conventional one is liable to raise the inquiry, "What does he mean by that?"

If, however, one begins with the weather we know that he means nothing by it, and we may continue the conversation with ease of mind. Being then both useless and useful, the weather is unequalled as a topic of conversation in its formal and preliminary stages.

DOES BACKACHE WORRY YOU

Some Dixon People Have Learned How to Get Relief.

How many people suffer from an aching back?

How few know the cause? If it hurts to stoop or lift—If you suffer sudden, darting pains—

If you are weak, lame and tired. Suspect your kidneys. Watch for nature's signal.

The first signs may be back or dizziness.

Scanty, painful or too frequent urination.

Nervousness or a constant, dead-tired feeling.

Avert the serious kidney diseases.

Treat the weakened kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills.

A remedy especially for sick kidneys.

Endorsed in Dixon by your friends and neighbors.

N. W. Beal, 629 College avenue, Dixon, says: "For a long time I had kidney trouble and it showed itself in various ways. I had rheumatic twinges, my back was stiff and lame and after bending over, I could hardly straighten. When I was suffering intensely, I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got at Leake Brothers Drug Store. They gave me wonderful relief in a short time and I still use them, keeping my kidneys in good shape. All I said in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills some years ago holds good and I am glad to confirm that statement."

Mr. Beal is only one of many Dixon people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Beal had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c. all stores. ASQUITH YIELDS TO SUFFRAGISTS

Agrees to Hear Militants After Sylvia Pankhurst Storms Commons.

PLANNED HUNGER STRIKE

Daughter of Suffragettes' Leader Perches Herself on Parliament Steps for Long Vigil When High Official Changes Mind.

London, June 19.—Premier Asquith has capitulated to the suffragists. He has consented to receive a deputation of East end working women in Downing street Saturday morning.

Miss Sylvia Pankhurst's attempt to carry out her threat of a hunger strike at the entrance to the house of commons until the premier yielded to the demand that he listen to a delegation of women was largely responsible for the prime minister's decision.

The efforts of James Keir Hardie, the Socialist Independent member of parliament, and George Lansbury, an ex-member, helped the militant suffragist leader to bring the premier to his knees.

Victory a Distinct One. The victory is a distinct one, because Sylvia Pankhurst was arrested about a week ago for attempting to lead a procession of East end women to Westminster to demand the audience which Mr. Asquith now has promised.

Holloway jail opened its doors last night to release Miss Pankhurst, who was weak and pale after her eighth successive hunger strike, but still determined. She drove to Westminster immediately in a motor car with a woman chauffeur and rebuffed Mr. Keir Hardie's efforts to persuade her to go home.

She was sitting on the steps of the central entrance to parliament house, propped up with cushions and supported in the arms of friends, when Mr. Lansbury came out with the news that Premier Asquith had surrendered.

Militants' Plans Well Laid. The militants' plans were effectively arranged, as usual. When their leader emerged from Holloway jail on the arms of two attendants, a motor car was waiting, filled with cushions. Two nurses took charge of her and propped her up. A group of militants had gathered outside of Westminster, and when the car drove up they cried: "Here's Sylvia!"

A large force of police was on duty, but, apparently under instructions, they made no objection when the automobile entered the palace yard under Big Ben. This is the members' private entrance, and always has been forbidden ground to the militants. Crowds began to assemble and the police were reinforced, but they maintained an attitude of "watchful waiting."

Mr. Keir Hardie emerged from the house bareheaded and talked with Miss Pankhurst for three minutes. Then, with the chief of police, Mr. Hardie made three journeys between the house and the car, obviously acting as a go-between in the negotiations. Sylvia talked with him in a whisper.

Cries, "On to Commons."

Seemingly the Independent Labor member's efforts were a failure, for after the third conference Miss Nora Smythe, who was Miss Pankhurst's lieutenant, announced to the bystanders:

"We are going to the house of commons to sit on the steps."

The engine of the car was started again and the machine drew up at the public entrance to the house of commons. Women carefully arranged the cushions on the steps and lifted Sylvia out, while the police shoved back the spectators. Miss Pankhurst remained unmolested for ten minutes. Then Mr. Lansbury appeared with the news of Premier Asquith's decision.

MILLIONAIRE SUED BY GIRL

$100,000 Breach of Promise Suit Against Eugene Zimmerman.

New York, June 19.—Suit for $100,000 damages for alleged breach of promise has been brought against Eugene Zimmerman of Cincinnati, father of the duchess of Manchester, by Miss Lucy Wareham, a dog fancier of this city. William H. Blymyer, an attorney who represents Mr. Zimmerman, admitted that the suit had been filed in Queens county, but he would not discuss the case. According to an affidavit by Miss Wareham reciting the grounds for the suit given in the complaint—which document could not be found among the court records—the alleged promise to marry was made in this city on or about December 20, 1913.

We wish to draw your attention to a few of the improvements in the Dixon Lawn Mower over all other makes.

First, the floating bed knife bar which is swiveled on the rod that ties the back end of the mower securely together, and, with the other tie rod at the front makes the most rigid frame to be found in lawn mowers.

You will notice at each back corner of the bed knife a compression spring. These press the cutting edge of the bed knife up against the reel, or revolving knife, always adjusting itself.

We make the Dixon with a thrust ball bearing which is the same as is used in automobiles, making it the best.

The knives throughout are crucible steel. The lower bed knife is crucible lip steel.

The Dixon Mower will cut heavy grass without raising the handle and without lifting up behind and choking.

HANNIS TAYLOR

Hannis Taylor, former minister to Spain, who was a member of the Alaskan boundary commission, and who has a reputation as an international lawyer, is said to have been promised $1,000,000 if he succeeds in securing the passage of the proposed treaty giving $25,000,000 to Colombia for the loss of Panama. Mr. Taylor admits his efforts in behalf of the treaty, but denies that the amount of his fee has been fixed at $1,000,000.

ANOTHER BANK SHUT

Munday Institution at Alton, Ill., Closed After Run.

Attorney General Asks Receiver For La Salle Trust Co. in Chicago—Gross Culpability Charged.

Alton, Ill., June 19.—The People's bank in East Alton, Ill., one of the chain of Munday banks, was closed by a receiver appointed by the federal district court at Springfield, Ill. There was a run on the bank since Monday.

Litchfield, Ill., June 19.—A receiver was appointed for the Litchfield Mill & Elevator company, a Munday institution.

Springfield, Ill., June 19.—Rigid investigation of the financial condition of all surety companies doing business in this state was ordered by Rufus M. Potts, insurance superintendent. The action was due to the practise of issuing bonds to guarantee bank depositors, many large banks having been issued to depositors in the Lorimer-Munday banks. As many of the surety companies are Eastern concerns, the New York insurance department has been asked to participate in the investigation.

Chicago, June 19.—Fraud and other illegal and unsafe acts and "gross culpability" are charged against the management of the LaSalle Street Trust & Savings bank in a petition for the appointment of a receiver for the closed bank, which was filed in the circuit court in Chicago by Patrick J. Lucey, attorney general of Illinois. Officers of the institution, it is alleged, made loans to members of a favored clique of borrowers far in excess of the legal limitations, in violation of the law limiting the amount to be loaned to any person, corporation or firm to 15 per cent of the total of the bank's unimpaired capital stock and its unimpaired surplus fund.

TREATY WAITS UNTIL MONDAY

Senate Committee Adjourns With Draft Unfinished.

Washington, June 19.—After a stormy session the senate committee on foreign relations adjourned until Monday with the draft of the Nicaraguan treaty still unfinished. Secretary Bryan, accompanied by Judge Charles A. Douglas, attorney for the Nicaraguan government, occupied the entire time of the committee, the secretary with a description of what the treaty department wanted put in the treaty, Judge Douglas with a detailed account of the wishes of the Nicaraguan government.

KANSAS HAS ENOUGH HELP

Between 30,000 and 40,000 Farm Hands Arrive.

Topeka, Kan., June 19.—"Kansas has enough harvest hands, as between 30,000 and 40,000 men have come to the state in the last two weeks," said W. L. O'Brien, labor commissioner of Kansas. He added that he had sent telegrams to free employment agencies in Chicago, St. Louis, Omaha, Lincoln and other cities requesting that no more men be sent to this state, except on specific instructions.

VOLCANO IS AGAIN ACTIVE

Mount Lassen Has Eighth Eruption—Seen for 50 Miles.

FURNITURE AND UNDERTAKING

To Those Who Desire to Save

We offer you one of the safest and best forms of saving money—the monthly payment plan.

We issue stock to anybody, every day. Series No. 108 opened March 1st and closes May 31st. All stock issued between these dates draws interest at 6 per cent from March 1st.

Dixon is growing; so is the Dixon Loan and Building Association. Many people desire to buy or build homes and want us to furnish a part of the money. We want to help them out. We are anxious to increase the sale of investment stock, so that we will have more money to make new loans. Our plan appeals particularly to wage earners. We recently abolished the membership fee. There's nothing to pay but the monthly dues, which amount to from 50c to 50 Dollars, depending upon the amount of stock carried. Members can withdraw all the money they have paid in at any time and get in addition, 6 per cent interest for the time we have had it.

Nearly 27 years in business, and 62 series of stock paid off in full.
